In 1871, Joe Penny, a freed man from Kentucky, paid $160 for eight acres of land and named it Pennytown. A church was built there in 1872, and a community developed around it. Over the years, the community has been a hub for community events and gatherings. The church and surrounding area have been designated as a Significant Historic District by the National Park Service. In 1977, the Saline County Courthouse was designated as a National Historic Landmark.

The World War I Doughboy Statue is located in the center of the town square, the Saline County Courthouse is the centerpiece of the town, and the Pennytown Church & Community Center is a historic landmark. The statue is a tribute to the men who served in World War I from Saline County, and the community has honored those who paid the ultimate price for their country.

This beautiful garden commemorates Marshall's contributions to the community. The park is open 7 days a week, dawn to dusk. For more information, visit www.jimthewonderdog.org.
